

Campus Blood Campaign Falls Short of Assigned Quota

For Benefit Of Society

The campus blood drive sponsored by the Nodaway County Blood Bank drew 108 donors Tuesday, falling short of the desired quota of 157. Membership in the county blood bank, entitling full time students to free blood transfusions, requires donations of five per cent of the enrollment or a total projected collection of 190 to 200 pints of blood which will be needed this year.

Alan Pruitt, co-chairman along with Reg Turnbull, commented that fifty-three students who had scheduled appointments failed to keep them. Donors included 19 faculty and staff members. One hundred thirty-three pints of blood were collected including community donors.

According to Mrs. E. D. Imes, county chairman, a similar bleed-in will be held in

NWMSC Graduate Program Accredited by North Central

The Northwest Missouri State College graduate program has been granted preliminary accreditation by the North Central Association for colleges and secondary schools. School administrators, including Dr. Robert P. Foster, received official notice of the accreditation at the annual meeting of the NCA last Wednesday in Chicago. The Visitation and Accreditation Commission of the NCA made the recommendation to the Executive Board, which in turn notified NWMSC officials of the program's approval.

Graduate Plan Scheduled for '67

Students wishing to do graduate work in the new program to be instituted at NWMSC will have a choice of four master's degrees.

They may earn a Master of Art in English, business, or history; a Master of Science in biology; or a Master of Science in Elementary Education or a Master of Science in Secondary Education for teachers and administrators. Graduate students pursuing the MS in Secondary Education for teachers will be able to concentrate in a variety of subject matter fields.

Improved library facilities will be a part of the new program. "In order to promote the program, the college is actively working to increase library holdings to make better provisions for graduate students to undertake research projects," stated Dr. Leon Miller.

Work on the Graduate Catalog is already nearing completion, according to Dr. Charles Thate, who directs the compiling of curriculum catalogs.

"The precise program that the college had planned and asked for was approved by the NCA," Dr. Charles Thate, dean of administration, stated. "This is somewhat unusual and reflects the confidence of the NCA in Northwest Missouri State College," he added.

Dr. Leon Miller, dean of instruction, indicated that the new program would be initiated this summer. Tentative date for beginning its full-time program is the fall of 1969, although Dean Miller indicated that students in certain areas may be able to earn nearly full-time graduate credit prior to that date.

"I think that approval of our program by the NCA speaks exceedingly well for the faculty and deans who did a great deal of work on the preliminary study and for the students who talked with the visiting NCA team," President Foster commented.

Dr. Miller noted that the college will also continue its cooperative program for the MEd degree with the University of Missouri. More than 100 graduate students are currently enrolled in the evening and Saturday cooperative program with the University.

The undergraduate program received re-accreditation by the North Central Association.

Professor-Editor to Present Address on Arts in France

Dr. John D. Erickson, associate professor of French and Italian at the University of

will present a lecture today entitled "The Arts and the Advent of the Irrational in Twentieth Century France."

Dr. Erickson did his undergraduate work at Sophia University in Tokyo, Japan, and the Universities of Minnesota, Harvard, and the Sorbonne. He holds MA degrees in English and Comparative Literature and a PhD degree in French.

In 1961, Mr. Erickson and his wife founded the L'Esprit Createur, an international quarterly that publishes criticism of French literature. Mr. Erickson is the editor of the publication. He has also published articles and reviews in various journals on such subjects as Naturalism, Giovanni, Verga, Samuel Beckett, and Gide.

The public is invited to hear Dr. Erickson at 4 p. m. Tuesday in the Charles Johnson Theater of the Fine Arts Building. The lecture will be of special interest to art and foreign language students.

Arrangements for the lecture, which is sponsored by the Foreign Language Department, were made by Instructor Joe Wetzel.

1967 Homecoming Co-chairmen Elected

Lambright is also serving his third year on the committee. He has served on the parade committee and was co-chairman of that committee last year. He is a member of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity.

Theme ideas were also presented to the group. These ideas are to be taken back to organizations for their opinion and will be voted on by the committee at the next meeting.

The next meeting of the committee will be at 4 p. m. Tuesday in Room 259 of the Fine Arts Building.

Leaders Begin Plans

Discussing the qualifications and appointments of Homecoming committee leaders are Donald Robertson, sponsor, and Jo Ann Montgomery and Ed Lambright, over-all co-chairmen.

'Carousel' Cast, Production Staff Unite to Give Colorful Musical

By Marjorie Hitchcock

Opening night excitement of roses for the leading ladies, laughter, tears, songs in dressing rooms, the first major performance in a new theater, violas tuning in the pit. . . . thus was the scene set for actors, dancers, and musicians to present Carousel, a show unequalled here in recent years.

Audiences tonight and tomorrow are promised evenings of thoroughly delightful entertainment.

The orchestra, directed by Mr. Byron Mitchell, depicts well the moods of carnival excitement, emotion of young lovers, happiness of summer, sadness of death, and hardships faced by a young girl. Guest musicians from Maysville, Tarkio, St. Joseph, and Atchison, members of the Department of Music faculty, and college music students unite to make the orchestration a professional performance.

Although the plot moves somewhat slowly at first, Wendee Beam as Julie Jordan, Carolyn Hoffman as Carrie Pipperidge, Linda Brinton as Mrs. Mullins, and Mike Miller as Billy Bigelow, introduce the story of Carousel colorfully with their good acting and beautiful songs. Carrie captures her audience's hearts as she sings to Julie "You're a Queer One, Julie Jordan" and as she describes her own feller with "When I Marry Mr. Snow."

The brightness of the June scene puts actors and audience in the mood for the first clam-bake of the season. Martha Clothier, playing Nettie Fowler, assisted by the women's chorus, heightens the mood with her familiar song "June Is Bustin' Out All Over."

Billy Bigelow's famous soliloquy scene is heightened and intensified by Miller's excellent pantomime and his good voice. Howard Whittlesey portrays his role as the villainous Jigger Craigin well when he plays on Carrie's sympathy by announcing: "But I don't want to kiss Enoch."

Characters in the first scenes of Act II carry out their roles convincingly as events of the story lead to Billy's dramatic suicide. His death leads to the show's most beloved song of assurance "You'll Never Walk Alone." Miss Clothier's expressive singing vicariously carries the audience with her to comfort Julie.

The memorable performance continues with Carol Petty's and Doug Harrison's expressive ballet, which dramatizes the miserable life Billy has caused his daughter to lead.

Production directors Dr. Ralph Fulsom and Rod Wilson, vocal director Byron Mitchell, and technical director Kerry Lafferty, as well as the students who helped behind the scenes, deserve compliments and praise for their work in effecting a magnificent production.

From dancing to lighting, colorful stage sets, and timing, Carousel is a delightful musical. In it Northwest Missouri State College reaches a new height of artistic achievement.

Honor Organization For MSC Women Chooses New Name

The Northwest Missouri State campus has a newly named organization, the Embers, formerly known as Cardinal Key.

The new name was proposed because its members decided to become a local organization rather than national, and therefore could not retain the name of Cardinal Key. Members in Embers, senior women's honor association, are selected from among the women who excel in scholarship, service, and leadership on the college campus. Women of junior standing will be tapped for membership in the spring of the year.

Some of the activities which members of Embers participate in are helping with registration, sponsoring scholarships for one sophomore girl and one junior girl in conjunction with AWS, and choosing a coed of the month who members believe deserves recognition for her contributions to the campus.

Officers for Embers are Diana Brown, president; Mary Pettegrew, vice president; Dotie Mitchell, secretary; Sue Miller, treasurer; Joyce Cushing, historian. Other members include Nancy Boyd, Kay Elder, Marilyn Frandsen, Marty Geyer, Kris Johnston, Toni Johnson, Karen Peters, Karen Rosecrans, Elaine Sherman, Sondra Simons, Norma Wilson, Jo Ann Von Thun, and Jennifer Yates. Sponsors are Miss Carolyn Peterson and Miss Karen Licklider.

Miss Cushing will be acting president of Embers for the last eight weeks of school while Miss Brown is doing off-campus student teaching.

Negative Team Defeats Leavenworth Prisoners

Key Method and the linguistically oriented approach to teaching modern foreign languages. After viewing the film, guests heard a discussion on mutual problems of foreign language teachers.

The participants expressed appreciation for the opportunity to meet together and to learn some of the new techniques. One teacher remarked, "There should be more of this type of thing."

Alumnus' Art Shown in Gallery

On view in the Gallery of the Olive DeLuce Fine Arts Building at Northwest Missouri State College is an exhibition of drawings, prints, paintings, and sculpture by Dick Brown.

Brown, a '63 graduate from Creston High School, holds a BS in Education degree. While in college, he majored in art and minored in industrial arts and was a member of Kappa Pi International Honorary Art Fraternity.

After teaching art for two years in the junior high school at Raytown, he entered graduate school at the University of Denver. He is now on the faculty of Northeast Junior College, Sterling, Colo.

The work now being shown in the Gallery is highlighted by two large welded steel construction and several collages. These pieces are representative of the directions taken in the personal expressions of the artist and indicate his rather strong feelings for order and design.

The exhibition will continue through Apr. 21 and is open from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. Monday through Friday. It will also be open this evening.

Students Tour AEC Plants

Twelve science students visited the Atomic Energy Commission Laboratories at Ames, Iowa, today. The group was accompanied by Dr. Edward L. Farquhar of the Department of Chemistry.

Wolcott, Eggers Receive Major Titles In Annual Ugly Man Competition

After a week of campaigning and all-out carnival preparation, the Ugly Man mysteries have been solved, and the Student Loan fund should soon have at least $20,000 additional funds.

Randy Wolcott, sponsored by the Men's Dorm Council, and Frank "Stump" Eggers, sponsored by Phi Sigma Epsilon, were named faculty and student Ugly Man, respectively, at the all-school Carnival last Friday night.

Phi Mu Fraternity placed first, and Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority second with their skits at the Variety Show held earlier this week.

A banquet was held in the J. W. Jones Union Monday to award the Ugly Man plaques and other awards. Phi Mu was given an award of excellence; Hudson Hall and Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity received awards of recognition.

The best booth award went to Gamma Sigma Sigma with their "Jail" and "Future Predictor," and the second place honors went to Phi Mu with "Cake Walk."

The Ugly Man Contest was a project of Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity. Proceeds from the ticket sales were added to the NWMSC Student Loan Fund. While the exact amount has not been announced, estimated receipts total $2,190. Last year's total was $2,164.

Since the government will match every dollar placed in the fund by a ratio of 9 to 1, the college Student Loan Fund should have more than $22,000 added to its assets.

Members of the John Dewey Chapter of the Student National Education Association will attend the annual Officers' Workshop Saturday in Columbia.

This workshop will be conducted in the MST Building, and luncheon will be served in the Memorial Student Union. With a total of 183 members, the local chapter is entitled to nine delegates who will participate in the election of Missouri Student Education Association officers for the coming year.

The Workshop will begin with coffee hour and registration, courtesy of the University of Missouri chapter. A film entitled "Make a Mighty Reach" will be shown with related seminars following. Topics such as "Communications and Public Relations" and "Problems of the Education Student" will be discussed.

SNEA Members Introduce High School Youth to College

Students in three area high schools were taken on a vicarious tour of many parts of NWMSC campus last month by the John Dewey SNEA Chapter.

The program was presented by chapter members when they made their annual one-day tour to neighboring high schools. They visited Rosendale, Union Star, and King City high schools and were guests of the King City school for lunch.

The students were informed of college life, the teaching profession, and life on NWMSC campus by means of a skit entitled "Peanuts." Lucy was played convincingly by Cindy Miller as she took her little friends (and the high school students) on a tour of the campus via a large 3D map.

Don Horton, chairman of the group, appeared as Linus with his inevitable blanket for security. He also appeared as Steve, while Lanah Goodman enacted Shirley in a typical telephone conversation between a college boy and girl. Pete Rhodda played the part of Charley Brown; Ben Reimers, the narrator; Hardisty, Schroeder; Jo Voyce, Snoopy, and Gary Zil, Pig Pen.

Following each assembly program, the group and sponsor, Dr. Wanda Walker, visited the juniors and seniors, answering their questions about college in general, scholarships, work opportunities, college organizations, intramurals, and cula.

Dialogue, Union Board Discuss Ways to Arouse Interest in Activities

Dialogue met Monday evening with Union Board executive members, and Bob Dickey, sponsor, to discuss the Board's problems in planning, advertising, and executing their activities for the NWMSC student body.

Union leaders in attendance were Joe Logan, Ed Lambright, and Kenneth Bassett.

The group discussed the possibility of employing more aggressive and impressive advertising methods. Possibilities proposed included placing activities schedules on each cafeteria table, installing an outdoor public address system, adding more variety to the calendar in the newspaper, and designing more attractive, outstanding posters. Union Board representatives reported that they now have the services of an artist and a full-time sign printer.

Upon inquiries about the continuation of formal dances, Mr. Dickey stated that in the future such dances as the Christmas Dance and the Tower Dance would be held in the Blue Room. The Board feels the Blue Room will be easier to decorate and will provide a more suitable atmosphere than the gymnasium does for such dances. Since attendance has not been great at recent formal dances, the room should be large enough to hold the crowd.

The Board hopes that the Union will become a more frequented center of activity when the new addition is completed. New facilities will include a bowling alley, and later a craft shop and a dark room will be added.

Joe Logan explained the set-up of the Union Board. It consists of four executive officers and five committees each headed by two co-chairmen. Any person wishing to serve on a Union Board committee should file an application in the Union director's office.

The student, if qualified, will be placed on a committee. He must serve on a committee for one academic year before he is eligible to be appointed a co-chairman. Appointments are made according to merit.

In answer to students' requests for big name entertainment, the Union Board pointed out that it runs on a budget as do all other campus organizations. It simply does not have the funds to sponsor big name entertainment every week or month. In addition, there are also many conflicts in scheduling such entertainment.

The Union Board representatives believe the best advertisement they have is made by word of mouth. If students read about events, they should tell their friends if they liked them. Perhaps their friends will attend the next all-campus event.

The Union Board appreciates hearing student opinion both pro and con on the events they sponsor. This gives them an idea of what activities to repeat and also those to disregard in the future.

Board leaders also welcome any reasonable suggestions for student activities they could sponsor. Suggestions may be presented to any Union Board member.

Welcome... Service Clubs, To College Living

Indirectly people at NWMSC will be hosts to more than 600 Kiwanis and Rotary club members who will hold major meetings on this campus within the next few days.

Rotarians and their wives will meet tomorrow and Sunday for a program of entertainment, music, and talks, as well as a visit by a representative of the President of Rotary International. Program highlight for the group's Saturday evening will be the performance of the college production Carousell.

At the Tuesday evening Ladies' Night, the Kiwanis Club members and their wives will also gather on campus for a program. Main speaker will be E. Lee Comer, district governor, who will be making an official visit.

We believe that it is beneficial to our college to have these business and professional leaders in the area on our campus. We hope that they will like our facilities and that they will see our continuing building program as evidence that we are planning for a growing NWMSC.

We also hope that those who have children will view this college as a place where their youth can get a well-rounded higher education.

Kiwanians, Kiwanis Queens, Rotarians, Rotary Anns, we welcome you. We invite you to return to our campus often.

Women's Organizations Offer Sophomore, Junior Awards

The Embers, senior women's honorary organization, and the Associated Women Students are offering two $150 scholarships to one sophomore and one junior to attend NWMSC next year.

Candidates for these awards should have the qualifications which meet the ideals of the women students on campus. They will be considered on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership, and service.

Need will be considered, but will not necessarily be major determinant for the awards. Application blanks, obtainable from the Dean of Women's Office, must be returned by 4 p. m., April 21.

Notice-- Walk-Out Day To be Rescheduled

Due to premature publicity concerning the Buckinghams' Walk-Out Day appearance on campus, the Special Affairs Committee of the Union Program Council has decided to go ahead with the Buckinghams' Dance on Apr. 19, but to reschedule Walk-Out Day and the Pozo Seco Singers Concert.

"We feel that much of the value of Walk-Out Day has been lost because of the premature announcement of the date, and we are taking this action with the good of the student body in mind, knowing that anticipation of Walk-Out Day is an integral part of the day's activities," the board announced.
